EXCEPTIONAL CONTRIBUTION AWARD

Dr Shrikar Pardeshi, IAS

For his unique initiative in Maharashtra that launched e-registration of properties from the developer's office to bring convenience, transparency and speed to realty deals.

A 2001-batch IAS officer of the Maharashtra cadre, Dr Shrikar Pardeshi secured the 10th and 1st positions in the UPSC Exam in India and Maharashtra, respectively. An MBBS and MD in Preventive and Social Medicine from BJ Government Medical College, Pune, Dr Pardeshi has been presented with many national and State awards. He is the recipient of the National Award from the Prime Minister for work done in the field of water conservation through the National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme in Nanded and the National Award by the Computer Society of India for e-governance in Nanded.

As Inspector-General of Registration and Controller of Stamps (IGR), Pune, he took the unique initiative in association with MCHI-CREDAI, an apex body of developers, to launch e-registration of properties—making Maharashtra the first State to offer e-registration of property from the developer's office. The online registration brings convenience, transparency and speed to realty deals as users do not have to go to the registration offices.

His other significant contributions include the water conservation campaign in Yavatmal, Akola and Nanded districts, the Copymukta Abhiyan to stop cheating in SSC and HSC exams in Nanded (an experiment that was adopted all over the State), the Pat Padtalni Abhiyan to detect and remove bogus enrolment of students in aided private schools, leading to saving of more than Rs 2,000 crore for the State government, action against illegal constructions and the launch of SARATHI—an innovative and modern information helpline for citizens of Pimpri Chinchwad.

Dr Pardeshi is currently posted as Inspector-General of Registration & Controller of Stamps, Government of Maharashtra.
